VOLUME THIRTEEN, NUMBER 250 — MONESSEN, PA., SATURDAY, APRIL 3, 1915 — DELIVERED FOR SIX CENTS THE WEEK

INCORRIGIBLE BOY TO BE SENT BACK TO REFORM SCHOOL

Louis Widzesowski, a twelve year old boy residing at 254 Third street, was before Burgess Dunlap this morning as an incorrigible. The boy had spent a year at a Catholic Reform school near Derry and was out on parole. He violated his parole by sleeping out and disobeying his parents, This morning the mother appeared at police court and asked that the boy be sent back to school. Chief Wheatley took the matter in hand and will notify the school that the lad has to be returned.

Elias Phillips, colored of Seneca street, was charged with drunkenness, but was released upon promise to reform. He staggered into the police station Saturday night and became offensive and abusive. He was locked up.

M. Meyers Will Enjoy an Extended Trip West

M. Meyers, Monessen's pioneer clothier, is contemplating a trip that will cover a period of several months and include much territory. Leaving here about April 15th, Mr. Meyers will go through Chicago enroute to the Pacific coast. He will stop at Denver, visit Pike's Peak and stop a few days at Salt Lake City and view the big Mormon Temple and go direct to Los Angeles where he will spend several weeks and will travel up the coast to Portland, Oregon, and visit the Panama exposition.

Mr Meyers will make the trip alone, taking his time and seeing the country wherever there is anything attractive to him. He has had this trip in mind for a long time and is looking forward to it with great interest.

SYRIAN GREEK CHURCH HELD ROUSING GOOD FRIDAY MEETING

Last night as a special observance of Good Friday at the new Syrian Greek Orthodox church on Ninth street, the Rev. Father George Michael delivered a most interesting and powerful sermon on "The Funeral of Jesus."

The church was crowded to its capacity, there being almost 300 people in the house, being made up of Assyrians, Greeks, Americans and other nationalities.

This service which had been especially prepared was most impressive, and all who were there were deeply interested. After the service a collection was taken which amounted to $72 50.

The Syrian Greek Orthodox church is a new frame structure which was dedicated only five months ago, and the congregation is in a flourishing condition, having a good strong membership. It is a most attractive little church home, equipped with a bell, and very comfortably furnished It is classed among the best churches in the Monongahela valley, owned by the Syrian Orthodox people. The church stands on Ninth street, near Knox avenue.

EARLY MORNING FIRE ON THE NEW MONESSEN THEATRE STAGE

In response to a fire alarm by the tin mill whistle this morning at 4 o'clock the local department was called to the New Monessen theatre, but the fire had been extinguished before the boys arrived.

It appears that the house was being warmed up for a boxing match this evening, and a lighted gas stove was sitting on top of one of the radiators on the stage. Becoming over heated the window sill was ignited and fire was just getting under headway when Bill Jackson, who looks after the house and sleeps there, made the discovery. With a cool head and presence of mind, Bill soon had the house hose working and the blaze was short lived. The damage was slight.

The smoke and blaze issuing from the window was discovered by Night Watchman Mac Marker who turned in the alarm, and as the wind was blowing hard from the west, the building would likely have been destroyed had it not been for Marker's eagle eye.

Luna Theatre

Monday, April 5

Madame Olga Petrova in the dramatic sensation, "The Tigress" in five parts of motion pictures. The first time this production has ever been shown in this valley.

Tuesday, April 6

"The European War" The first and only authentic motion pictures of war as it actually is. Taken by Edwin F. Weigle for the Chicago Tribune under direction of the Belgian government conditionally upon 50 per cent. of the sale of the picture being given to the Belgian Red Cross. Every man, woman and child should know the sorrow and desolation and woe of war. These pictures show them clearly and sanely without melodramatic glamor. The greatest argument for disarmament ever advanced. What you can see in the picture:

The Burning of Antwerp.
The Battle of Malines.
The Destruction of Termonk
The Flight of Lierre.
The Battle of Alost.
The Flight of the Refugees to Holland.

Women in tears as new battle films are shown. Real pictures of real war. This picture is educational and worth seeing.

Wednesday, April 7

Another great Paramount production "The Call of the North" in 5 parts,

The Luna theatre is now showing the best productions on the markets. Watch our pictures.

ACTIVE INTEREST IN TRAFFIC ORDINANCE

Most people seem willing to co-operate with the burgess and police department with regard to the enforcement of the traffic law Some drivers have called at the Clerk's office for copies of the ordinance and seem willing to do everything to bring about better and safer conditions on our streets. Within a short time it is believed people generally will understand the regulations pretty well and that it will be much easier to get through the streets, and the traveling public will be greatly relieved as to danger

PRINTER DIES IN FLORIDA

Word has been received at Belle Vernon that W. F. W. Kittle died at Daytona, Fla. His home was in West Newton, but he was well known in Monessen and Belle Vernon, and was a charter member of King Christian Commandery Knights of Malta at Belle Vernon. Mr. Kittle was a printer by trade and some years ago worked on the Enterprise. His health failed and he went south hoping to regain it. The remains were brought to his former home and the funeral took place yesterday.

Wants Heavy Damages

Papers in a suit for $20,000 against the borough of Donora and a claim for a similar amount against the Mercantile Bridge company has been filed at Wtshington, Pa., by attorneys for Mrs. Jennie Ogden, widow of James P. Ogden. The bridge across the Monongahela at Donora is owned by the Mercantile Bridge company, and it seems that there are no sidewalks on the approaches and that the roadway is occupied by street car tracks.

It is set forth that the plaintiff's husband in April, 1914, was walking along the approach to the bridge in the borough of Donora, and that he stepped to the edge of an embankment to avoid a street car. The ground on which he stepped gave way and he was carried down a steep grade to his death.

It is further set forth that the borough and bridge company were negligent in not providing sidewalks and railings for the protection of pedestrians.

WRONGED BUT SILENT

That the United States is wronged by the killing of one of its citizens in the destruction of a British ship by a German submarine is very plain. No one will doubt it, the only question is what shall we do about it?

The seriousness of the offense is apparently fully appreciated at Washington. The difficulty of the situation is increased by the lack of any precedent to govern our conduct. No war was ever waged before that involved so many perils to peacefully disposed neutrals. We are resolved to keep out of this war, so even gross provocations like this requires some repression of our natural feelings of resentment.

Even when we suffer through the European conflict we know it is done without malice toward the United States. Germany desires our good will and no doubt will endeavor to make reparation for the death of Thrasher. Her war zone submarine campaign is as illegal as the British long distance blockade of the approaches to Germany, but if we are to continue at peace, we will have to content ourselves with protesting. The sinking of the Falaba without giving those on board time to take to the boats is indefensible and not to be endured. There was but one American on board, but there might have been one hundred. A like treatment of an Atlantic liner would have brought sorrow and mourning to many American homes.

We are at peace and are neutral, yet must we have our lists of killed and wounded in this European war or will our government see to it that the abominable crime of torpedoing a passenger steamer regardless of the lives of non-combatants on board shall not be repeated.

THE "JITNEY" INVASION

All that is required to be a transportation magnate now is to own a good car. In nearly all the large and many of the smaller cities the "jitney" bus is cutting into the profits of the street car companies and making owners of autos rich. When it was at first suggested that owners of machines could make any money carrying passengers for a five cent fare, it was thought to be impossible. A few, wiser than the rest, started "jitney" lines with their machines. It has been demonstrated that in San Francisco the owner of a car can clear from six to ten dollars a day by carrying passengers at the "jitney" rate. In most of the cities these busses follow the routes of the regular street cars and are making trips on regular schedules. A "jitney" by the way is a nickle, five cents, and nickels count up very fast in any good business. By the way we hear very serious talk of a "jitney" service being soon established in Monessen to serve the hill district and haul people to and from the lower and upper districts of the town and we are led to believe it would be a good thing, both for the "jitney" man and the people. A new "jitney" line has just been chartered at Camden, N. J., at $125,000.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

FATHER GOOSE FOR FARMERS

There was a crooked man and he walked a crooked mile,
He sold a crooked stock-food and made a crooked pile;
He made a crooked talk and he made a crooked sale
And now he spends his time in a pressed steel jail.

Farmer Jack Horner
Went down to the corner,
To put all his dough in the bank.
He left a large sum
And murmured "By Gum!
My widow will not draw a blank."

Mrs. O. M. Hubbard
She stared and she rubbered,
As Farmer Smith's auto sailed past.
She said with a sigh:
"I would willingly die
To go through the country that fast."

So she went to her bankers
And drew out some dough.
She then bought a car
And away she did go.

BAR POLICE MUST KEEP CLEAN HOUSE

Uniontown, the county seat of Fayette county, has what they call bar police, each hotel maintaining a special police officer. These officers were notified by police officials Friday morning that in the future any persons found in the Uniontown barrooms in such a drunken condition that it is necessary to put them out, shall be arrested and taken to the police station instead of being ordered to the streets where they insult women and little children and many men who chance to pass them. This order is to be rigidly enforced.

It has been the practice of many men who are intoxicated to go about the streets begging for money with which to buy more liquor and with passing vile remarks at women and little children.

The bar police were also notified to be most careful in watching that men do not get too much drink at their bars and in the future when it is seen that a man can not drink any more than he has already been sold without a chance of his being arrested, his supply is to be shut off.

BELLE VERNON BOY WAS SHOT

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Shepler of Belle Vernon, have received word that their son, William of Chanute, Kansas, was accidentally shot in the face and is seriously injured.

Young Shepler has a store and is in the habit of carrying home for protection a revolver when he closes up.

On Saturday the store had been closed for the night and he was preparing to leave for home. The gun had been laid out of the drawer on his desk and one of the clerks picked it up. It was discharged, the ball entering Mr. Shepler's face just over the nose. Medical aid was summoned and the injured man taken to his home. The deadly missile was located, but it was thought best at the time not to probe into the wound.

MADE TROUBLE IN A CHURCH

The new Emanuel Baptist church at Donora was crowded to its capacity a few evenings ago when Rev. S. J. Cummings, the pastor, spoke on "Mormanism." About a dozen members of the Latter Day Saints were present and at various times interrupted the pastor, defying him to prove certain statements. Rev. Cunnings anticipated trouble after the announcement several days previous to the date of his sermon, and had asked for police protection and when the officer appeared at the church, the trouble ceased.

OPIE THE GREAT PAINTER

was once asked with what he mixed his paints. "Brains" he replied.

This applies as well both to the production and use of wines. Close study to chemical and climatic conditions and constant and careful handling for a number of years are necessary to the production of pure and perfect wines.

Good judgment is also necessary on the part of those who use wines—which should be used only when beneficial to the system—and then only such wines as are absolutely pure and will produce the desired results. Physicians and chemists say that Speer's Wine from Mount Prospect Vineyards, Passaic, N. J., fill all the requirements of a pure and health giving wine.

You have read Monessen proof.
Read now the Monessen proof.
Renewed testimony; tested by time.

Mrs. A. W. Jenkins, 25 McKee avenue, Monessen, says: "I suffered from attacks of kidney trouble.

I first noticed a severe pain in my back and thought it was lumbago. I frequently had dizzy spells. My kidneys didn't act properly and the kidney secretions were unnatural Before I had taken one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Hirsch Drug company, I was greatly benefitted."

(Statement given Nov. 10, 1909.)

STILL PRAISES DOAN'S

On January 26, 1914, Mrs. Jenkins said: "I still take Doan's Kidney Pills whenever occasion demands and they always give me relief."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Jenkins had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

My Wife's Judgment

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

It is singular how persons will be misjudged. When I married Margaret the remark of a friend was repeated to me that nettled me It was that she had much better judgment than I, and if we got on in the world it would be owing to this fact.

Now, while I love my wife dearly and appreciate her good qualities, I confess I don't like this decrying of myself by comparison with her. I admit that she has on certain occasions advised me as to investments, and her judgment in the matter has turned out to be quite correct. But these persons who set such store by judgment seem to forget that there is such a thing as luck. When I proposed at one time to spend some money in advertising a scheme I had in view Margaret said to me, "You will not get a single reply," and it turned out that she was right. It was a piece of luck.

Then, too, when I proposed to go into business with a certain man she told me he would leave me in the lurch at the first opportunity. When I asked her on what she based her statement she said she didn't like the shape of his nose. The member was not shapely, I admit. It was altogether too small for his face, but I do protest against any woman condemning a man for such a reason. That the fellow relieved me of $3,000 does not alter the argument in the least.

When I submitted this case to a woman friend of my wife she laughed and said, "That is reason enough for any woman, and when I indicated my surprise at such nonsense she claimed that I had no business to ask my wife to give a reason for such an opinion.

Margaret had such a run of luck in proving me wrong in certain instances that she came to believe she was very much my superior. True, she never said she was my superior and relied on me entirely for certain things about which she was very stupid. When I asked her one day, when my passbook was returned to me from the bank, balanced, to see if the balance in my checkbook agreed with the balance in the passbook, she replied that she didn't know how and couldn't learn. A nice person that to advise a man in business matters. But this is not the worst. On one occasion when I was on a trip and Margaret needed money from the bank she wrote a check, and instead of signing my name by herself or her own she forged my signature. The check was paid, but Margaret's stupidity raised a laugh at the bank at her expense.

"My dear," I said to her when informed of what she had done, "I hope hereafter I shall hear no more of your superiority to your husband."

"Oh," she replied, with a toss of her head, indicating that she considered the matter one of the most trivial importance, "I naturally supposed that in signing your name I should make it look like yours. They must be very particular at your bank. I should not be surprised if you lost everything you have there some day."

"Very particular indeed," I replied. "Do you consider forgery a matter for a banker to pass lightly? If they so regarded it at my bank I should have good reason to believe that I might lose money by them."

Who could imagine such blind luck as followed my wife's prediction? Six months after it was made the bank was obliged to go into liquidation. But luckily I lost nothing by the failure. Shortly before it occurred Margaret took it into her head to buy a number of expensive household articles, which had necessitated using up all my balance.

"I told you so" she said when I announced the bank's trouble.

"Told me so," I retorted impatiently. "Do you refer to what you said about my some time losing money by the bank?"

"Of course I do."

"Will you kindly inform me how you, who don't know enough to write a check without committing a forgery, knew about the bank's weakness?"

"I knew that Mrs. Burton, the cashier's wife, was a very ambitious woman."

"Suppose she was. What has Mrs. Burton's ambition to do with the bank's failure?"

"Everything. But she didn't get any of our money. I took care of that."

"Took care of that!"

"Yes. I put it into rugs and furniture."

Now, was not this the most remarkable piece of impudence? Because she happened to spend this money at this time she claimed to have saved it intentionally.

I was telling Quigley about this one day soon after it occurred. To my surprise, he turned upon me and said:

"Bob, you're the biggest fool I ever knew."

"What do you mean?"

"Don't you know that Burton was the cause of the bank's failure and he was ruined by his wife?"

"You don't mean it!"

Sometimes I think it's pretty hard to find a foundation for anything in this world. It may be that Margaret's foresight induced her to put the money I had in bank into rugs in order to save it, but I can't understand how a woman who didn't know enough about banking to avoid committing a forgery would be able to tell that the institution would go under.

P. R. R. COMPANY SUED FOR DAMAGES

An action in trespass to recover the sum of $25,000 for the death of the plaintiff's husband has been filed by Meri Gyori against the Pennsylvania Railroad company. The statement sets forth that on April 2, 1914, Alex Gyori, the husband was in the employ of the company at its freight yards at Shire Oaks.

Gyori was engaged in repairing cars that were on the siding when a train of cars was shoved onto the track and against the cars which were being repaired by Gyori, crushing and injuring him so badly that he died on the following day.

It is alleged by the plaintiff that her husband's death was due to negligence on the part of the employes of the defendant company. The statement of claim sets forth that the foreman in charge of the yards neglected to place flags on the repair track as a warning that men were engaged in repairing cars on the said tracks and that the crew in charge of the train which ran onto said tracks were negligent in not investigating the cars on the said tracks to see if any men were at work about them. It is claimed that the rules of the yards were violated by the men in charge.
